

CALIFORNIA

The State Does Not Have the Money to Pay Bills

California has $266 billion worth of assets, but most of these assets are not available to meet their obligations.

More than $126.4 billion of these assets is infrastructure like roads, bridges and parks, which cannot realistically be used to pay bills. The use of $30.7 billion of the assets is restricted by law or contract.

California is in Financial Jeopardy

Only $109 billion of the state's assets are available to pay $303.9 billion of bills as they come due.

More than $195 billion of state employees' retirement and other costs have been pushed into the future, and thus onto our children's and grandchildren's backs.

Each taxpayer's share of the financial burden is $18,000.

CALIFORNIA

The State Does Not Have the Money to Pay Bills

Assets	$266,053,273,000
Less: Capital Assets	$126,468,821,000
Restricted Assets	$30,712,001,000

Available Assets to Pay Bills $108,872,451,000

Bills $303,968,253,000

Money Needed to Pay Bills $195,095,802,000

Each Taxpayer's Financial Burden $18,000

Data is derived from the State of California's June 30, 2009 Audited Comprehensive Annual Financial Report and Retirement Systems' Actuarial Reports

So-Called "Balanced" Budgets Ignore True Costs

California director of the Administration Office of Accounting only reported liabilities of $222.9 billion. IFTA's detailed analysis discovered $81.1 billion of retirement systems' liabilities were unreported by the state. When these liabilities are included, the state's bills total $304 billion.

So-Called "Balanced" Budgets Ignore True Costs

Reported Liabilities	$222,870,923,000
Unreported Retirement Liabilities	$81,097,330,000
Total	$303,968,253,000

California's statutes require the legislature to pass a balanced budget. One of the reasons California is in this precarious financial position is state officials use antiquated budgeting and accounting rules to determine payroll costs.

Since retirement benefits are not immediately payable in cash, California's politicians ignore most of these payroll costs when calculating "balanced" budgets. As a result, the state set aside only 57 cents to pay for each dollar of these promised benefits.

Truthful accounting would include the portion of retirement benefits employees earn every year they work in payroll costs.

Accurate accounting requires all real and certain expenses be reported in the state's budget and financial statements when earned, not when paid.

Join Us

Help us bring the truth about the nation's debt to light. Sign me up for IFTA's electronic newsletter.

Email: _____

Mailing Information

Name _____

Address _____

City/ State/ Zip _____

Daytime Phone _____

Contribute to Our Efforts to Get Out The Truth

The Institute relies on your generous contributions for its funding. The Institute for Truth in Accounting is a registered not-for-profit organization, and all contributions are tax-deductible.

Your gift will help our quest to spread financial truth about your government, so citizens can make informed decisions about our fiscal challenges.

My gift is:

___ $1,000 ___ $500 ___ $250 ___ $100 ___ $50 ___ $25

My check is enclosed.

Please make checks payable to the Institute for Truth in Accounting 1500 Skokie Boulevard, Suite 304, Northbrook, Illinois 60062

Please charge my:

___ VISA ___ MasterCard

Card Number _____ Expiration Date _____

Name as it appears on card _____

Signature _____

For more information, please call (847) 835-5200

Thank you for supporting the Truth!

About

The Institute for Truth in Accounting (IFTA) was created by distinguished financial and public policy experts concerned with the quality of public and private organizations' financial reporting.

The mission of IFTA is to encourage private and public entities to produce financial reports that are understandable, reliable and transparent, and to inform the public of the importance of truthful budgeting and accounting.

IFTA actively seeks association with other public interest groups and individuals that recognize the need to improve financial reporting, or want to better understand the true consequences of financial decisions.

The Institute is a non-profit, nonpartisan organization that does not advocate public policy beyond that of truthful accounting.

truthinaccounting.org

Institute for Truth in Accounting
1500 Skokie Boulevard, Suite 304
Northbrook, IL 60062

CALIFORNIA

Financial State of the State

